DME Seminar:

Introduction to Water Desalination Technology – Markets – Environment

05. February 2019
Duisburg

Seminar Information

DME Seminar

Again in 2019 DME repeats its seminar
Introduction to Water Desalination
 Technology - Markets - Environment

This Seminar addresses mainly representatives of politics, business and science, who want to acquire elementary technical and economical information about this important and rapidly growing branch.

In the framework of selected speeches internationally recognised experts will present an overview on the most relevant desalination technologies and their application. Furthermore they will present markets, potentials and trends in research and development.
